Audition Process

What happens after I return the application form?

When we have reviewed your application, you will be contacted (usually in writing) to confirm the date and time of your audition.

What can I expect on the day of the audition?

Choral Scholars

- You need to prepare an appropriate piece to sing, such as an aria or a piece from the ABRSM syllabus.
- There will be an accompanist available on the day. Please bring a copy of the music for the accompanist.
- You will be tested on your sight-singing, your range, and your listening skills.
- You will have an interview to discuss your reasons for applying for the scholarship and your personal aspirations.

Instrumental Scholars

- You need to prepare something appropriate to play, such as a piece from the ABRSM syllabus.
- There will be an accompanist available on the day. Please bring a copy of the music for the accompanist.
- You will be tested on your sight-reading and your listening skills.
- You will have an interview to discuss your reasons for applying for the scholarship and your personal aspirations.

Academic Scholars

- You may bring a portfolio of written (notated) examples of your composition.
- You will be asked to complete a short harmony exercise.
- You will be given an analysis test and will be asked to answer questions based on a musicological text.
- You will have an interview to discuss your reasons for applying for the scholarship and your personal aspirations.

The auditions are conducted in a relaxed manner, and we aim to give you every opportunity to demonstrate your ability.

When will I hear the result of the audition?

You will normally be contacted shortly after the audition with the result. For some places there may be a delay as we complete the auditions with other applicants. In these cases, you will be informed by early July of the final outcome.

What happens if I am offered a scholarship?

You will be sent a pack giving details of the scholarship and you will be asked to return a letter of acceptance that includes a contract with the college. Please return this to us as soon as possible.
